

SOME/ANY

A. EN DISTINTOS TIPOS DE ORACIONES

Se usa some/any para expresar cantidades indefinidas. Ejemplo:

We ate some apples (Comimos algunas manzanas) / I bought some books (Compré algunos libros)

SOME suele aparecer en frases afirmativas. Ejemplo:

I've got some sweets for you. (Tengo unos caramelos para ti)

ANY se utiliza en oraciones interrogativas y negativas. Ejemplo:

Are there any yoghurts in the fridge? (¿Hay yogures en el frigorífico?)

There isn't any sugar in this coffee (Este café no lleva nada de azúcar)

[[Nota: excepcionalmente se suele utilizar some en oraciones interrogativas para realizar ofrecimientos o peticiones corteses. Ejemplo: Would you like some coffee? (¿Te apetece un café?)

Could I have some water, please? (¿Podría tomar agua, por favor?)]]]

B. CON CONTABLES/INCONTABLES

Some y any se usan delante de sustantivos contables plurales o delante de sustantivos incontables (en este caso no se suelen traducir).

Ejemplo: There are some pencils on my table. (Hay algunos lápices en mi mesa)

There is some mineral water in the fridge (Hay agua mineral en el frigorífico)

Is there any sand in your shoes? (¿Hay arena en tus zapatos?)

[[Nota 1: Delante de sustantivos contables en singular usamos: a, an, one y determinantes posesivos (my, your, his, etc.). Ejemplo: A: Look, it's a puppy. (Mira, es un perrito)

B: Yes, it's his puppy. (Sí, es su perrito)

Nota 2: Los sustantivos contables en plural pueden llevar some delante o no llevarlo. También determinantes posesivos. Ejemplo: I can give you some potatoes (Puedo darte algunas patatas)

I like potatoes (Me gustan las patatas)

She likes your friends. (A ella le gustan tus amigos)]]]

	CONTABLES		INCONTABLES
	Singular	Plural
Afirmativa	a/an	some	some
